In the sprint he beat R. T. Nelson after a good race by a yard." Another paper says: "At Merchiston Castle, on Wednesday, a capital afternoon's work was done by W. D. Hardisty, who proved himself to be the best all-round athlete in the school, and a good one at that. His long jump of 18 feet 7½ inches, is considerably above the average, as is also his 90 yards 2 feet with the cricket ball, although not comparable to the sprints done during the past two years by G. O. Turnbull. Hardisty also won the putting and the 100 yards, and these carried off the cup for all-round excellence." This athlete mentioned is the younger brother of R. G. Hardisty and of Mrs. J. C. O. SWANSON, Dominion government immigration agent, arrived on Thursday's train accompanied by two Scandinavians who proposed to look over the country west of Connington creek, about 10 miles southwest of Edmonton, with a view to settling. Mr. Swanson arrived at Wetaskiwin on April 16th, accompanied by 22 heads of families and about thirty-six persons in all, to settle in the vicinity of Wetaskiwin. They were all Scandinavians, and came from various parts of the United States. Four came from Vermont, 6 from Nebraska, 3 from Minnesota, 3 from Massachusetts and 6 from New York. Two of them settled at Bittern lake and of the rest all but two settled at Red Deer lake. These two came on to Connington creek. Mr. Swanson returned south on Friday and will remain over at Wetaskiwin until to-morrow's train south. It is to Mr. Swanson's exertion that the Scandinavian immigration to the Wetaskiwin district is chiefly due.

The report of the Dominion experimental farms for 1895 show that the prairie districts of the Northwest have a record far ahead of any other sections of the country in the yield obtained. Of twelve varieties of wheat experimented upon at Indian Head the highest yield was 52 bushels per acre and the lowest 42 bushels. Red rye was grown on the flats. The yields at the other farms were: British Columbia farm, highest 33, lowest 27; Napan farm, highest 30, lowest 24; and Brandon farm, highest 49, lowest 42 bushels per acre. In oats Indian Head yield was from 109 bushels to 87 bushels lowest yield per acre. Brandon highest, 101, lowest 73 bushels per acre. The highest yield at Ottawa was 74 bushels, at Napan 70 bushels, and at Agassiz 59½ bushels per acre. Barley oats gave the highest yield at Brandon and Ottawa and abundance led at Indian Head. Two rows barley Brandon showed 62, Indian Head 59, Napan nearly 48, British Columbia 45, and Ottawa 43½ bushels per acre.

THE ice in the Saskatchewan began to break up on Saturday afternoon, on account of a rise of water, although it was quite solid, and teams crossed on Saturday forenoon. Applicants should state wages they will pay for experience or inexperienced hands, period of engagement. Also give post office address and quarter section on which they reside. No charge will be made by Mr. Bennett.

J. CAMERON returned on last Thursday from a trip to the prairie, where political matters are absorbing attention. Commercial men in Winnipeg say their orders in the Northwest are not so large as in former years, but payments are more prompt and merchants generally are bringing their business down to a cash basis. Trade prospects in Winnipeg are encouraging.

H. NELSON came in last Thursday from his camp 20 miles above Fraser's old camp. He returned by team to-day to join Harry Bass. At their camp they will build a boat and proceed up the river to prospect for coarse gold. Mr. Nelson was mining last summer down the river about 30 miles and took over $300 gold out in four months. He made as high as $8 on several days during that time.

SUDDEN DEATH.

George Atkinson, a settler of Agricola, was found dead in his stable on Saturday night about ten o'clock. He had gone out about dark to feed his horses and not returning as usual his wife went to the stable to see what was the matter and found him dead. He had an injury near the heart which no doubt caused his death, and a bruise on his head probably caused by his fall. It is supposed that he was kicked by a colt which he was feeding. On Sunday morning the colt was found to have a piece of one of the tines of the manure fork through its heel, as though it had accidentally been stuck in the ground by the fork and in kicking had broken the tine. He died was nearly 30 years of age and came from Parry Sound two years ago. He leaves a wife and three small children. The funeral takes place to-day at the Fort Saskatchewan cemetery.

THE DOHERTY ORGAN EXHIBIT WINS THE GOLD MEDAL.

From the Clinton, New York of April 10th, 1896.

W. Doherty & Co. exhibited their organs at the Midland Counties Trades & Industrial Exhibition at Wolverhampton, England, from Feb. 20th to March 19th, and as have been awarded the highest possible prize, the Gold Medal. After commenting on the rigid system of factory supervision in every department, it continues: "We may safely say, therefore, that the Doherty Organ will be found holding its own as one of the few great, standard, artistic makes of the world, enjoying a deserved prosperity, leading the industry in noble achievement and honorable enterprise and conferring on it now and in years to come that honor, dignity and lustre which have been its characteristics for the past twenty years.

These organs have been sold by J. T. Blowing for the past sixteen years here and in Manitoba, and he says he has yet to find a dissatisfied purchaser.

CROW'S NEST PASS RAILWAY.

The proposition to loan the C. P. R. Co. $4,000,000 as an inducement to construct a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass and thereby to directly connect the Northwest with the Kootenay mining country is quite alluring from some points of view. There is no doubt that the Territories need better connection with the Kootenay country than they enjoy at present. In fact it is in the interest of both the Kootenay country and the Northwest that the connection should be made as convenient, and particularly as cheap, as possible. There is little or no doubt that the Crow's Nest Pass offers the most favorable route whereby this connection can be made. But it is not the only route to connect the two districts. The C. P. R. at present have a route to the Kootenay country from the Territories; not an all rail route it is true, but which could be made an all rail route at a trifling expense, compared with the cost of building the Crow's Nest Pass railway. The necessity of an all rail connection by way of the C. P. R. must have been apparent to that company for some years. An all rail route from the States to the chief business centre of that district has been in existence for a couple of years with the result that business from this side of the line into the Kootenay has been done at a very serious disadvantage. To such an extent is this the case that Spokane and not Calgary or Vancouver does the immense and growing trade of the district, and the farm produce used in that region comes from Palouse and not from Edmonton. In this case the interests of the C. P. R. and of the country seemed to be identical and both pointed to direct railway connection from the Canadian side. But no apparent effort has been made to secure direct connection. Two short pieces of track were built connecting stretches of water communication with the mines but no effort was made so far as the public know to secure aid for an all rail route, until the bill alluded to was presented to parliament. This proposition was not to connect the links already built, but to build a long and expensive line over a new and different route. If the object had been to give the Northwest an all rail route into the Kootenay that object could have been attained at a very much less cost than four million dollars by connecting the links of road already built. But that was not the object. A line of railway through the Crow's Nest Pass competing with the C. P. R. would be of vast benefit, both to the Kootenay and the Territories, for it would ensure to Canadians at least an equal opportunity to do business within Canada as is now enjoyed in respect of the Kootenay country, by the people of the United States. But a C. P. R. line through the Crow's Nest Pass, would only strengthen the present monopoly held by the C. P. R. as far as Canadian trade with the Kootenay is concerned. It was to prevent, not to assist, competition that the four million dollar loan was to be made. If the government has four million dollars to loan for the purpose of constructing a railway into the Kootenay through the Crow's Nest Pass, the interests of the country demand that it be not given to the C. P. R. if another company can be found that will build the road and operate it as a competitor of the C.P.R. And even if such a company can be found the assistance should be conditional on the government holding an effective control of rates so that the interest of the country could be protected, as it is not under present circumstances. If it is impossible to get a competing company, and it becomes necessary to deal with the C. P. R., certainly in consideration of such liberal aid it would not be too much to ask that the government should have such control of the rates as would ensure to the producers of the Northwest that they would not be shut out of their nearest market in their own country by the extortion of the railway company. The question for the electors of the Territories to ask themselves at the present time is, can they depend upon the present administration to protect their interest when the proposed deal is made? They know only too well how foolish such a dependence would be, and that if they are to get railway competition into the Kootenay district they must get it at other hands than those of Tupper, Foster & Co. A clearer case of "dog in the manger" never existed than the course of the C. P. R. in regard to the trade of the Kootenay. Owing to the fortunate situation of the Kootenay district they are not able to prevent its development. They can only prevent the people of Canada, as well as themselves, from sharing in that development, and that they are doing most effectively. The government's proposition is, to assist them to do it still more effectively at a cost to this country of four million dollars.

THE TRANSVAAL.

The following letter from an Englishman in the Transvaal gives a new version of affairs in that republic. The letter was republished by the Toronto Week from Public Opinion. "Be assured that if the English government do not act with more promptitude the time is not far distant when you will hear of another rising at Johannesburg. The mines are beginning to close down for the want of labor, and in consequence hundreds are thrown out of work. The natives are afraid to come into the town whilst it is under Boer government. Chamberlain's prestige is failing considerably, and it really makes one sick to see how he is soft-soaping Paul Kruger. One would think that England was afraid of a handful of Boers. Had we but a determined man at the head of affairs when we were all armed, and had not listened to the specious statements of Sir Jacobus de Wet, we should have walked through the Transvaal. You must not suppose that the Boers are the fine men you see represented in the London illustrated papers—many of the sketches make us roar; nor are they the dead shots you read about. The very fact of the few men of Jameson's that were killed proves their want of skill. The yarns that appeared in your dailies about the Boers losing two men is all rot. I saw five buck-wagon loads of dead being taken away from the field of action, and, in addition, I know a spot where twenty are buried."

COUNCIL MEETING.

A special meeting of the town council was held at ten o'clock this morning to consider the following telegram:

"TORONTO, April 25, '96.

"ACTING MAYOR MCNAULY.

"Bill passed. Government agrees to terms in letter of March 17th, but no funds voted. Company should be organized at once and by law submitted that work may be commenced immediately. Wire course determined upon by council.

H. C. WILSON."

The letter alluded to mentions that an offer had been made on behalf of the town to the government to pay the difference between $75,000 and the total cost of the bridge, the town afterwards to maintain the bridge. A proposition for the town to pay the balance of cost over $80,000 and the government to maintain was not made.

Cowie—Edmonton moved that the solicitor be instructed to prepare a by-law for submission to the people to raise $50,000 for the purpose of taking that amount in shares of the Edmonton District railway company, and that the solicitor be also instructed to take proceeding for the immediate formation of the company.

Cowie—Satter moved that solicitor be instructed to draft telegram to Major Wilson in reply to his wire of the 29th inst.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.

The inaugural dinner of the newly formed St. George's society of Edmonton was held last Thursday evening in W. B. Stennett's store, which had been decorated for the occasion with bunting and evergreens. A fine portrait of Queen Victoria ornamented one side of the room, and a large Union Jack was draped behind the president's chair. Mr. J. Griesethwaite provided an excellent dinner. The company numbered about 25. The guests of the evening were G. J. Kinnaird, president of the St. Andrew's society; Donald Ross, president Old Timers society, and J. G. Fairbanks, president St. Jean Baptiste society. H. B. Round, president of the society, in the chair, and Messrs. Braithwaite and G. E. Grogan, vice-presidents, occupied the right and left ends of the table respectively. Before proceeding with the menu list and program, the president, H. B. Round, gave a short inaugural address. He said it gave him great pleasure as their president, to be present at this the first meeting of Englishmen in Edmonton. The institution of St. George was not a modern production. That he was a veritable character is beyond reasonable doubt, and also that he died in the early part of the fourth century. In the next century many churches were dedicated to his honor. St. Gregory in the sixth century has in his sacramentary a preface of Oxford in 1222 commanded the festival of St. George to be observed in England as a joyful feast. Writing them further with antiquities he would turn to the present. It was thought at that time he had arrived for Englishmen to fall into line with their fellow countrymen who had formed societies under the patronage of other saints. Judging from that meeting he thought they must be not only gratified with the success of their inauguration, but would expect the St. George's society to equal in membership the sister societies of St. Andrews and St. Jean Baptiste who were so honorably represented that night by their presidents as our guests. There was another important institution, the Old Timers. What would they do without them? Their president, Mr. Donald Ross had to be summoned to the meeting in order to make its success doubly welcome. The Illustrous Sons of England were too well known to need any eulogy from him. He could not remove his seat without thanking them for their presence and assured them he found it difficult to find terms to express his appreciation of the honor done him by electing him their first president. He would always do his utmost for the welfare of the society whose watchword he hoped would ever be "St. George and Merry England." The toast of the "Queen" was then drunk with musical honors. The other toasts were "England, our Mother land," "Canada our Home," with which Mr. J. C. F. Brown's name was coupled and to which he replied in a few well-chosen words. "Kindred societies" brought up the guests of the evening.

G. J. Kinnaird on behalf of the St. Andrews society congratulated them on the evident successful formation of the St. George's society, and hoped their Irish friends would soon follow suit.

Donald Ross, for the Old Timers, related in his own inimitable way that he owed much to the St. George's society of Sacramento.

J. G. Fairbanks thanked them on behalf of the St. Jean Baptiste society. He heartily congratulated them on their successful organization. They were actuated by the same motives as the Sons of Scotland, Ireland and New France. The sentiments of affection and patriotism and loyalty animated all these societies alike.

"Success to the Edmonton St. George's society," was most enthusiastically received. The musical part of the program consisted of songs by Messrs. A. G. Hamill, W. McAdams, C. Fillies, J. Griesethwaite, Donald Ross, G. E. Grogan, J. Mann. Recitations by A. E. Lee and W. B. Stennett, a stamp speech by S. Chivers Wilson and mandolin, guitar and banjo solo by W. G. Powlright and Fillies. The singing of the national anthem closed the proceedings. There were representatives from fourteen English counties and the Channel Islands present.

The poet was in error; this is wrong. They have something to do with the case.

They have a mission to perform in cheering the heart of man for whom all things in this universe have been ordered. A springtime is a necessity for all things animate or inanimate. We have a rare lot of goods on hand in the springtime of their existence, and we wish nothing better than to see them blossom into summer on the persons of our customers.
